

TALKED ABOUT IN WESTERLY

Local Interest in Commemoration of Dorr Rebellion—Masons at New London Lodge of Perfection Session—Samuel Potter Dead—Chas. W. Willard Re-elected President of Fish Commission—Dull Fortnight in Court.

The Rhode Island Citizens' Historical association has made preliminary plans for the observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Dorr rebellion. It was decided to hold the celebration at Chepachet, near the site of hostilities in 1842, on a date in June yet to be selected. There are still a few living in Westerly who remembered the stirring incidents of that time in the town where two companies were mustered in to oppose the Dorr uprising.

Senator Louis W. Arnold has been selected to represent Westerly on the committee of arrangements. The other members of the committee are Thomas W. Bicknell, Jesse B. Mowry, Mrs. D. Russell Brown, Michael F. Dooley, James H. Higgins, Joseph L. Saunders, Daniel R. Ballou, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, George F. O'Shaughnessy, Charles H. George, Gilbert E. Whittemore, George W. Greene, Edward M. Sullivan, Edwin C. Pierce, Patrick H. Quinn, Lewis A. Waterman, Sayles R. Stead, Walter A. Read, Frank F. Davis, W. B. Knight, Howard W. Farnum and Charles Potter. Plans are to be made for the securing of speakers and the dedication of a monument.

Thomas W. Dorr, who was born at Providence in 1816, and who died there in 1854, was a member of the Rhode Island general assembly in 1835-37 and was the leader of the Dorr rebellion. This was brought about by dissatisfaction with the constitution of the state, and a call for a constitutional convention was made by a party called the suffrage party, of which Dorr was the head. A new constitution was made by this convention and submitted to the people in 1841, receiving a majority of the votes. Dorr was convicted of high treason and sentenced to imprisonment for life, but was released under a general amnesty act in 1844, and returned to his civil rights in 1845.

The Dorr war, though somewhat serious, was a brief affair. The vicinity of the arsenal in Providence, Federal hill, Chepachet and Acot's hill, where Dorr promised to "lay his bones," were the only memorable fields of action, except the line of retreat, halting places of arms, and the state prison. To meet the uprising, eleven hundred men were sent from the state prison to the arsenal at Chepachet, where they were under arms until the rebellion collapsed.

Westerly was under martial law and the little academy then located on Oakley hill was used as a guardhouse or prison. To suppress local demonstrations of the Dorrists, a court of inquiry under military authority was opened at the hotel then located in East Broad street. Several persons of known to be abettors of the insurgents were compelled to swear allegiance to the state and a part of the ceremony was to bow to the American flag. The political temper soon subsided and the ambition of Mr. Dorr was cooled in the state prison.

The insurgents evidently adopted wrong measures to secure a desirable end, by taking the sanctuary route to liberty. In the end, however, the Dorr rebellion moved to the legal adoption of a new constitution of the state, and the old charter of 1857 became an historical relic.

Through the influence of Carey Condon, master of the Lodge of Perfection, there was a session for the first time of the Norwich consistory, Scottish Rite Masons, held in Masonic temple, New London, Friday evening. There was work in the Lodge of Perfection degree by the degree team of Bridgeport, which was witnessed by many visiting brethren, including the following: George E. Broughton, Arthur N. Nash, D. Everett Boile, George Clark, Thomas McKenna, William C. Burk, Albert B. Barber, Albert Clark, William Giddens, Dr. Albert H. Spicer, Horace Burdick, Dr. William A. Hildard and Arthur Thomsen.

The Westerly delegation arrived in New London at 5:30 for the elaborate feast served in the banquet hall of the Masonic temple at 8 o'clock. They returned home by a special car that left Groton at 10:30 on the Groton & Stonington railway road.

Samuel Potter died at the home of his brother, Howard Potter, in Dayton street, Thursday night. He was born in South Scituate, Mass., 40 years ago and spent nearly all his life in Westerly. He was employed for many seasons by Watch Hill cottagers and in order to secure his services during the summer, Mr. Potter was paid half salary the balance of the time and was free to work elsewhere. Besides his brother, Howard, he is survived by a daughter, Mary, and by Daniel Seabaker, a step-son.

He was son of the late Samuel Potter, a Civil war veteran who acted as flag bearer when Building post G. A. R. appeared in parade. Mr. Potter was a regular attendant at the Advent colored church.

Although Charles W. Willard of Westerly is now at his summer home in Florida with his wife and daughter, Mrs. Grace P. Robinson, he was re-elected president of the inland fish commission at the annual meeting held Thursday at the Rhode Island state capital, Daniel R. Fearing of Newport was elected vice president, William H. Boardman of Central Falls secretary, Theophilus Sherman of Woonsocket treasurer and Adelbert Roberts of Woonsocket auditor.

Local Leagues. Frank P. Dutton is home from college on a brief vacation. Matthew Sullivan of New London was a visitor Friday in Westerly.

Dr. J. Howard Morgan, who was taken suddenly ill and with symptoms Thursday night, showed signs of improvement Friday.

Mrs. Scanlon, wife of Dr. M. H. Scanlon, who has been suffering from an attack of acute indigestion, was somewhat improved Friday.

The Westerly groundhogs could readily discern their shadow on the snow-covered ground as they emerged from winter quarters Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Solomon are in New York to attend the marriage of Miss Rosalind Dresser, sister of Mrs. Solomon, and Lester D. Kaufman.

Including the Westerly lodge, all the lodges of the Modern Woodmen of America in Rhode Island will join in a state class initiation at Providence, February 10.

Good Methods of Help will be the topic of Rev. A. C. McGilton at Grace Methodist church, Sunday morning. Evening subject, Great Things, How Obtained.

J. Howard Brown, who recently recovered from a long siege of typhoid fever, at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Brown, in Westerly.

Miss L. Gertrude Stillman of Ashaway read an interesting paper of Col. William Barton, at the regular meeting of the local chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

On account of the illness of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Jones, Rev. Joseph L. Peacock will officiate at the Calvary Baptist church, Sunday morning. Mr. Peacock was Mr. Jones' predecessor and resigned to become librarian of the Westerly public library.

Men are visiting the seashore resorts of the state trying to ascertain the names of the summer residents who returned to their homes, leaving unpaid bills, and are not meeting with much success. The proportion of Watch Hill cottagers with this lapse of memory is proportionally small.

Phoebe Greene Ward chapter will be represented at the Continental conference, Daughters of the American Revolution, by Mrs. Elbert W. Clarke, and Mrs. George H. Utter as delegates, and Mrs. Edward M. Burke and Mrs. George H. Langdon, alternates.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Baptist church will give special observance to Christian Endeavor day at their Sunday afternoon service. A congratulatory letter will be read from Rev. George P. Perry, who organized this society twenty-six years ago.

There was nothing doing at the regular session of the Third district court in Westerly Friday. Judge Williams, after court adjournment said there was improvement in the moral state of the town, as no new criminal action had been brought to the court in two weeks.

CONGRESSMAN REILLY ON A SPEECHMAKING TOUR.

Will Deliver Addresses Every Evening of Next Week.

(Special to the Bulletin.)

Washington, Feb. 2.—Representative Reilly left this morning for a week's speech making trip. He will stop off at Philadelphia with the others of the Post office committee to attend a dinner given by the Periodical Publishers association, of America. Sunday evening he will attend a dinner at the Taft hotel, at New Haven, given by a Jewish society, which will make an address. On Monday evening he will preside at the regular session of the common council at Meriden after which he will address the Young Men's Temperance association, in the same city. Tuesday evening he will address the St. John's club, at New Haven. Wednesday evening he will address the citizens of Mr. Carmichael, Thursday evening he will talk to the Teachers' league, at New Haven. Friday he will speak at the Ladies' Carriers' association, of Worcester, Massachusetts.

Representative Tilson, has been invited to take part in the meeting of the Teachers' league on Thursday, when he was asked to respond to the toast "The Teachers' League." He will not be able to attend as the Army appropriation bill is liable to be up at that time.

Representative Hill introduced a bill granting a pension to Samuel L. Johnson, of Stamford, late a member of Co. B, 1st S. Vols., at the rate of $30 per month.

Mr. Arthur P. Atwood, of Norfolk, has been appointed a doorman in the senate gallery. He was recommended by Senator McLean.

Parachute Jump From Statue of Liberty.

New York, Feb. 2.—A man slowly ascended up the upraised arm of the giant Statue of Liberty out in the harbor today, made his way to the outside of the wrist band, then sprang out into the air and shot toward the earth. Pedestrians in Battery park were amazed at the whizzing figure speckled, then gasped with relief when a parachute opened and the figure settled lightly on the ground at the statue's base. The man was Frederick Law, a stepchild. He had obtained a government permit to make the leap.

Local Leagues. Frank P. Dutton is home from college on a brief vacation. Matthew Sullivan of New London was a visitor Friday in Westerly.

Humphreys' Seventy-Seven Breaks up Colds and

GRIP

"Seventy-seven" knocks out the Grip—

"Seventy-seven" breaks up a Cold that hangs on—

It is hard to distinguish between Grip and a hard Cold—nor is it necessary for "Seventy-seven" is equally good for both—

The main thing is to keep it handy, carry it during the bad weather, and take a dose at the first chill or shiver—don't wait till the Cough and Sore Throat set in—

A small vial of pleasant pellets, fits the vest pocket. At Drug Stores 25c. or mailed.

Arm Broken by Fall.

Mrs. Eliza Grinnell of Church street, who is 58 years of age, fell on Thursday and broke her arm just below her shoulder. Mrs. Grinnell went out of doors Thursday afternoon and slipped on the ice. She was found by her niece, Mrs. Anna Colby, who called for her. Dr. C. E. Condon did all he could to relieve the sufferer.

Lecture at High School.

There was a small attendance at the third of the series of the lectures given in the High school. The lecture was given by Prof. Somers on Wild Animals. The lectures will be discontinued owing to the fact that they were not liberally patronized.

Birthday Party.

Miss Mabel Collins celebrated her seventh birthday on Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, on Pearl street. Miss Jessie Fink, teacher in the first grade of the West Side school, which little Miss Collins attends, chaperoned the party. Refreshments were served and a most delightful time was had by all present. The guests left many remembrances for Miss Collins to enjoy.

Middletown Defeated.

Myrtle won another game at basketball Thursday evening when the Middletown team met defeat. The game was slow and the Mystic boys were too much for the visitors. The score was 22-19 in favor of the Mystic. The lineup was: Middletown, Bullard, left forward; Coken, right forward; Griffin, center; Wilcox, left guard; Ferrell, right guard; Myrtle, J. McKenna, left forward; Vinol, right forward; Burrows, center; L. McKenna, left guard; Vinol, right guard. CHILD ELOPER IS NOT AN HEIRESS.

Her Paramour is Not as Classy as Was Represented.

New York, Feb. 2.—The fortune to which Mary Russell, aged 15 years, professed to be heiress and the no-nonsense to which her sister's husband, Christopher Ammon, laid claim after their arrest here as runaways yesterday, were shattered by investigation, according to the police today. They say Ammon is the son of a coal dealer at Bethlehem, Pa., and that instead of being "general manager of a big steel works" he was in charge of a "steel department." The degree from the University of Pennsylvania which he laid claim to also is fictional so far as records show. The girl is the daughter of moderately well to do parents at Hazleton, Pa.

Annie is held on three serious charges for examination tomorrow. The girl remains in custody of the children's society.

GOVERNMENT DIPLOMA FOR GIRL BREADMAKER.

Ten Iowa Boys Also Rewarded for Corn-growing Achievements.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Miss Lois Edmonds, aged 11, is the prize bread baker of Iowa, and ten boys, this year's champion corn growers from the same state, were presented with diplomas today by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson in recognition of their work. Their trip to Washington was part of the reward they received for baking the best bread and raising the most corn to the acre.

Blamed a Good Worker.

"I blamed my heart for severe distress in my left side for two years," writes W. Evans, Danville, Va., "but I know now it was indigestion, as Dr. King's New Life Pills completely cured me." Best for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, constipation, headache or debility. 25c at The Lee & Osgood Co's.
